STEELERS SUPPORT OF YOUTH FOOTBALL CONTINUES TO

GROW

BY TERESA VARLEY, STEELERS.COM

On a warm summer morning, children's laughter could easily be heard, and smiles were as vibrant as the radiant sunshine, as kids enjoyed being outside, doing what they love.

And on this day, what they loved more than anything was football.

Steelers football to be exact.

It's a scene that has been replicated not just throughout this past summer, but since 2009 when the team first introduced the Steelers Youth Football Camps.

The camps started small, mainly attended by those in the local Pittsburgh area, but have grown significantly throughout Western Pennsylvania and well beyond, with participants coming from as far as Alaska and Hawaii and some even from overseas, taking in instruction from current and former Steelers players, as well as area youth football coaches who have been recipients of the Steelers High School Coach of the Week award.

"It's always a joy to see kids playing football on a field no matter the time of year, but the sold out camps that we put on during the summers, are truly special," said Dan Rooney, the Steelers Director of Business Development & Strategy. "We have our current and former players teaching the game of football to the kids from the Western Pennsylvania community, alongside kids who traveled from other states and countries to these summer camps."

The camps are a major aspect of the Steelers Youth Football Program, not just the first aspect introduced as part of the program, but one that helps grow the sport through instruction, safety and building a future fan base.

"It's the foundation of our game," said Rooney. "That's when a lot of our fans fall in love with the sport of football. It's when they're in their backyard, and they're playing football with their friends and family."

"These camps allow us to teach the game. The Steelers want it to be taught the right way, a safe, fun and competitive way. You can learn from some of the great players of our past, or learn from current players on our roster, how to throw a football, how to take a handoff, and how to run a route. These are the tricks of the trade of football that our youth who attend these camps can pick up and take into their seasons, whether it's flag football, tackle football, or a game at recess. They're going to leave the camps better football players than when they arrived."

This year the Steelers hosted Youth Football Camps at Highlands Sports Complex in West Virginia, Saint Vincent College, Slippery Rock University and West Allegheny High School for boys and girls ages 6-14. The team also partnered for a Nike 11-ON at Bethel Park High School.

"Every time we start a football camp, we say we have two objectives," said Mike Marchinsky, the Steelers senior manager of alumni relations and youth football. "We want to have fun, and we want to learn something."

"The fun is the number one goal because if they're having fun, they're going to come back and do it again. And especially now with kids and video games and devices, they have so many opportunities to do things. If it's not fun, you're not going to spend the time doing it."

"And football is a hard sport. Even if it is entry level. We always talk about life lessons and putting in hard work the way some of our guys put the work in, players like Hines Ward, James Harrison, T.J. Watt and Cameron Heyward. Those are some of the examples that we use."

"You have to make sure it's fun because it is a challenge. It's something that takes a lot of time and effort. So, you've got to have some fun doing it too because there are some challenges. But there is plenty of fun too."

"We want to promote and grow the game of football. That consists of creating opportunities for boys and girls, showing they can play as kids in contact or non-contact. We're trying to increase participation and grow awareness of the game because there are opportunities later in life to either go on to college and play or find a career in football off the field. There's an opportunity to participate, represent your school, maybe represent your college. And there's opportunities in career development too. So obviously, that's a long, long way to get there to have a career in sports."

"Through our youth football camps, coaches' clinics, and everything that we do, we want to grow the sport and share our love of the game with others."

High School Girls Flag Football participants

Association (PIAA) sanctioning girl's flag as a high school sport for the upcoming 2025-26 school year.

"It continues to be impressive the talent level that we see whether it's at a camp or during the girls' flag football season," said Rooney. "When we talk about football being a fun, competitive sport, you're absolutely seeing that in girls flag football and I think that's why it's been such a quick sport to grow. It's a sport that, although it might feel new, they're able to compare it to their experience on the basketball court or the soccer field. The skills are translating to flag football."

"We can't wait to see it continue to grow across Western Pennsylvania, which we believe will carry on in 2025 and beyond."

The Steelers and The Mentoring Partnership teamed up with the Pittsburgh Post-Gazette, Giant Eagle and Spread Group for the inaugural Girls Flag All-Peer Team in 2025, which features high school players from the region who go above and beyond to provide mentor-like support to their teammates, in school and in the community.

The program was also elevated more this year with the Girls Flag Football League championship games airing on KDKA+, giving them the same attention as high school football for boys has in the Western Pennsylvania area.

"We've seen tremendous growth in girls flag," said Marchinsky. "It's fun to be a part of it because we can see it going from a kid that's come through our camp as a six, seven, eight-year-old to be back in our high school program. And there's some girls that played in our flag program that are playing for Pitt and other places where you see a whole life cycle of youth in high school football."

Western Pennsylvania, and America in general, is a hotbed for football. There is absolutely no doubt about that.

But there are other places where American football is flourishing, and the Steelers are helping to make that popularity flourish, growing it not just in Western Pennsylvania, but also internationally.

Over the past few years the Steelers have expanded their youth football reach to an international audience, including Ireland, Mexico and Germany, all countries where the team has the rights to expand their brand and activities as part of the NFL's 'Global Markets Program.'

With the Steelers taking on the Minnesota Vikings in the first ever regular season NFL game in Ireland in September, the goal is to not just bring football to the region, but bring an understanding of the game by teaching it to the younger audience in Ireland and other countries.

"You don't just want to bring live games to these international markets, even though that's a big part of bringing our game to fans," said Rooney. "You also want to teach our game, because that's an important aspect of following a sport. That's really how you fall in love with the game, by picking up a ball and throwing it around with your friends."

"The fact that we've been able to put these camps on in Mexico, Ireland and Germany, and we've had current and former players teaching the game, is having an impact. Many American youth know how to play our sport. When you go to international markets, it might be their first time seeing American football. At the start of the day, you'll see the kids feeling it out, trying to understand the sport, and then by the end of a camp, you see smiles and they're having an absolute blast, which is what we want."

One of the emerging areas in youth football in recent years is the growth, popularity and participation in girls flag football. The sport has taken off nationwide, and Western Pennsylvania has followed the trend. Flag football will also be displayed on the biggest stage when it debuts as an Olympic sport in the 2028 Los Angeles Olympic Games.

The Steelers put their support behind a Girls Flag Football League in Pittsburgh the past four years, hosting events at the high school level throughout the year and working to expand the program.

The success the Steelers had in the region, along with the Philadelphia Eagles working with high schools in the Eastern part of the state, led to the Pennsylvania Interscholastic Athletic

A look around the Steelers locker room and it's basically a who's who in athletes who started off playing youth football. Some began playing in their backyard with siblings and neighborhood friends, others in flag football, and some in Pop Warner leagues.

It was an experience that helped them grow the love for the game, and the overall understanding of what the sport is about, allowing them to grow their love to where they are today.

"THAT WAS THE TIME THAT I FELL IN LOVE WITH FOOTBALL."

He isn't the only one who fell in love with the sport at a young age. It's a common theme throughout the Steelers locker room, as youth football truly is where their football roots are deeply seeded.

Rooney himself grew up playing multiple sports, mainly focused on football at Shadyside Academy in Pittsburgh and then at Dartmouth College. He has seen the benefits playing a team sport provides and how it can translate to everyday life.

"I know it sounds cliché, but you always hear football is the ultimate team game, and it truly is," said Rooney. "It's more than just one person on the field. It takes all 11 on your side of the field, it takes everyone working together to execute the play, to then hopefully gain yards or score a touchdown."

"When you go through the tougher moments of football, the harder practices, the difficult games, that's when you form these deep relationships you hear about in the locker room. You really form deep bonds with your coaches and your teammates through the discipline and toughness as well as the fun that the game of football provides. It's really hard to replicate that anywhere."

"I played a lot of sports growing up and football was a unique one with the life lessons involved, friendships, discipline, toughness and the competitive fun of the sport is like nothing else."

"Youth football was the start of everything for me."

"Youth football was the start of everything for me," said rookie quarterback Will Howard, who finished first in the Punt Pass & Kick Competition in 2014, part of the USA Football and Play60 program. "It made me fall in love with the game. I played for the Marsh Creek Eagles. It's a Pop Warner League in Downingtown, Pennsylvania, right outside of Philadelphia. And I loved it. I loved being around my buddies playing ball. I have vivid memories of peewee football. I remember my first coach, Malik Feaster. I'm still close with him."

"I remember one game I was begging him so hard to play defense, when we were up really big. I was begging him so much to play defense that he took my helmet, and he hid it under his arm. It was just funny me trying to get it because he was a big guy."

"I had a lot of fun playing," said linebacker Alex Highsmith, who played for the Coastal Panthers in Wilmington, North Carolina growing up and now hosts his own football camp in his hometown. "It was important to play as a kid, learning about the game. I watched a lot of football growing up. Playing it, learning how to play right, helped me out. When I got to middle school and high school where you actually played tackle, I understood it more. I knew the ins and outs of the game. It's important for kids to get the knowledge of the game at a young age."

"Being coached well is so important at a young age. You want to be taught how to tackle well. Being coached right and player safety is huge for young kids."

HEAD COACH

MIKE TOMLIN

Mike Tomlin was named the 16th head coach in Pittsburgh Steelers history on January 22, 2007. Hired at the age of 34, Tomlin became only the third head coach hired by the Steelers since 1969.

In his 18 seasons as head coach for the Pittsburgh Steelers, Tomlin has accomplished many things that have never been done in the team's storied history. A franchise known for stability at the head coaching position, Tomlin ranks among the League's longest-tenured active head coaches entering the 2025 season.

Tomlin became the youngest head coach in NFL history to both coach in and win a Super Bowl when he led the Steelers to a 27-23 victory over the Arizona Cardinals in Super Bowl XLIII (36 years, 323 days), a record that held until it was eclipsed by Sean McVay in Super Bowl LVI (36 years, 20 days). By winning the Super Bowl in only his second season as a head coach, he also became the fastest to win a Super Bowl title in Steelers history.

During his head coaching tenure in Pittsburgh, Tomlin has led the Steelers to seven AFC North titles, most recently in 2020, and has guided the Steelers to the playoffs 12 times, including two trips to the Super Bowl (XLIII and XLV). Tomlin has won at least five home games in 17 of his first 18 years, including six in 2021. In his 18 seasons, he has never had a losing record.

Tomlin is the only head coach in League history to begin a head coaching tenure with at least 18 consecutive non-losing seasons. He has led the Steelers to a .500-or-better record in each of his 18 seasons as head coach. That is the third-longest streak of .500-or-better seasons by a head coach in NFL history.

Tomlin has sent a total of 80 selections to the NFL's annual Pro Bowl, including the four players who received Pro Bowl honors for the 2024 season. Additionally, Tomlin was appointed by Commissioner Roger Goodell to the NFL's Competition Committee in March 2013.

Tomlin is just the eighth coach in NFL history to win a Super Bowl within his first two seasons as head coach. He is the only head coach in Steelers history to lead the team to two Super Bowls in his first four seasons at the helm, including an appearance against the Green Bay Packers in Super Bowl XLV. He is one of only two Steelers head coaches to win three division titles in his first four seasons.

Tomlin has led Pittsburgh to a 183-107-2 record in the regular season since becoming the team's head coach in 2007 - the second-best record in the NFL during that time span, behind only Andy Reid and Bill Belichick. His 183-107-2 regular-season record (.630) is the best start in franchise history. Tomlin's 183 regular-season victories are the second-most among active NFL head coaches and 12th-most in League history. Tomlin's .630 regular-season win percentage is the 10th-highest in NFL history (minimum 150 games).

Tomlin's 183 regular-season wins are tied for the second-most in a coach's first 18 career seasons. His .630 regular-season win percentage is the fifth-best by a head coach in his first 18 career seasons.

Tomlin, who ranks eight in NFL history with a regular-season record of 76 games over .500, Bill Belichick, Andy Reid and Marty Schottenheimer are the only coaches in NFL history with career records of 70 or more games over .500 not in the Pro Football Hall of Fame.

Tomlin is one of two active NFL head coaches with over 180 victories and one of four active NFL head coaches to defeat at least 31 current NFL franchises.

With a victory at Washington in Week 10 of 2024, Tomlin became the ninth head coach in NFL history to reach 180 career wins. He registered 180 wins in 284 games coached, which was the fifth-fewest games coached in League history to reach the milestone.

Tomlin led the Steelers to another 10-win season in 2024, the 11th time Pittsburgh has reached double-digit wins during his tenure. The Steelers played seven regular-season games vs. 2024 playoff teams. Pittsburgh's seven regular-season games played vs. 2024 playoff foes was tied for the fourth-most in the NFL. The Steelers' five victories vs. opponents that finished 2024 with a winning record were the fifth-most in the NFL.

Tomlin led the Steelers to another 10-win season in 2023, the 10th time Pittsburgh has reached double-digit wins during his tenure. The Steelers played eight regular-season games vs. 2023 playoff teams, including both four at home and four on the road. Pittsburgh's eight regular-season games played vs. 2023 playoff foes was tied for the eighth-most in the NFL. Five teams in the League that qualified for the playoffs played at least eight games vs. 2023 playoff teams and only Baltimore played more such games and reached the postseason. The Steelers' five regular-season wins vs. 2023 playoff foes was tied for the third-most in the NFL this season.

Tomlin's young 2022 team improved dramatically over the course of the season, culminating in Tomlin's 16th-straight season of .500 or above with a record of 9-8. The Steelers started the season at 2-6 before their Week 9 bye, and went 7-2 the rest of the way. Pittsburgh's offense boasted the best third-down conversion rate and the third-most rushing yards in the League from Weeks 10 through 18 after starting the season ranked 24th in both categories. Defensively, Pittsburgh improved from ranking 29th in opponent yards per game to the stingiest defense in the League over the second half of the season, allowing an NFL-best 272.9 yards per game following their bye week. The Steelers defense also improved in getting off the field over the last nine weeks, allowing the third-least third-down conversions (36) and tying for the second-most interceptions (12). The team's 20 interceptions on the season tied for the most in the League.

Tomlin is one of two active NFL head coaches with over 180 victories.

In 2021, Tomlin led the Steelers to a 9-7-1 record and captured a playoff berth for the 10th time in his Steelers career. For the fifth-straight season, the Steelers led the NFL in sacks (55). The Pittsburgh defense sat atop the League in red zone defense allowing touchdowns on just 50.14% of red zone trips. Offensively, Pat Freiermuth and Najee Harris set several rookie franchise records and were two of five rookies starting in Week 1 of the season.

In 2020, Tomlin became one of just two head coaches in NFL history to begin a head coaching tenure with at least 14 consecutive non-losing seasons – joining Marty Schottenheimer (14, 1984-97). The Steelers began the season with an 11-0 win-streak, which culminated in a 12-4 regular-season record and Tomlin's ninth AFC North title. The 11-game winning streak (9/14/20-12/2/20) tied the longest regular season winning streak in franchise history. Over the past six seasons (2013-20), Tomlin has led the team to a 26-13 record in the month of December/January.

The Steelers offense dramatically improved in 2020, scoring at least 24 points in 11 regular season games after hitting the mark just five times in 2019. However, it was Pittsburgh's defense that once again showed its teeth, either topping or sharing the league lead in 20 different defensive categories including tackles for loss (103), sacks (56.0), interceptions (18), passes defended (84), quarterback pressures (198), defensive completion percentage (56.7%) and opposing QB rating (76.7). The unit also finished second in takeaways (27) and third in scoring defense (19.5).

Finishing the regular season as the AFC's No. 3 seed, Pittsburgh produced five Pro Bowlers – offensive linemen Maurkice Pouncey and David DeCastro and defenders Minkah Fitzpatrick, Cameron Heyward and T.J. Watt – marking the fourth consecutive season in which at least five Steelers were named to the Pro Bowl.

Pittsburgh was beset with injuries in 2019. The Steelers lost quarterback Ben Roethlisberger with a season-ending elbow injury in Week 2. Running back James Conner missed six games, wide receiver JuJu Smith-Schuster missed four games, and was sidelined for the majority of two others, and defensive end Stephon Tuitt missed the final 10 games of the season. Even backups – quarterback Mason Rudolph and running back Jaylen Samuels missed multiple games. Starting center Maurkice Pouncey missed three games. Starting left guard Ramon Foster and starting tight end Vance McDonald were both sidelined two games for concussions. Undrafted rookie free-agent Devlin Hodges was forced to play in eight games (six starts), and, despite an 0-3 start, Tomlin still led Pittsburgh to a record of 8-8.

Despite injuries, Pittsburgh's defense led or tied for the League-lead in sacks (54.0), quarterback hits (117), takeaways (36), fumble recoveries (17) and rush TDs allowed (7). The Steelers also ranked among the NFL's top-five in interceptions (2nd, 20), interception rate (2nd, 3.89%), passing defense (3rd, 194.6), yards per play allowed (3rd, 4.74), passes defended (3rd, 83), yards per rush allowed (3rd, 3.79), forced fumbles (t-3rd, 19), tackles for loss (t-3rd, 90), opposing passer rating (4th, 80.7), pass yards per attempt allowed (4th, 6.06), total defense (5th, 304.1), scoring defense (t-5th, 18.9) and offensive TDs allowed (5th, 30).

During the 2019 season, Tomlin reached 125 career wins in the fewest games (192) in team history, tying him with Bud Grant for the fifth-fewest games by an NFL head coach to secure 125 regular season wins. He was the third head coach in NFL history with 133 or more regular season wins in their first 13 seasons as a head coach, joining Tony Dungy: 139 and Shula: 138.

Tomlin led the Steelers to a record of 9-6-1 in 2018. With a Week 5 win against Atlanta, he and quarterback Ben Roethlisberger broke a tie with Chuck Noll and Terry Bradshaw for the most wins by a head coach-quarterback tandem in franchise history. The duo's 127 regular-season wins (2007-20) are now third-most by a head coach-quarterback pairing in NFL history, trailing only the tandems of Sean Payton/Drew Brees and Bill Belichick/Tom Brady.

Roethlisberger set single-season franchise records for touchdown passes (34), pass completions (452) and passing yards (5,129) in 2018, while leading all NFL players in pass completions and passing yardage. Wide receiver Antonio Brown led the NFL with a single-season franchise record 15 TD catches. Brown and second-year wide receiver JuJu Smith-Schuster also made history, becoming the sixth wide receiver duo in NFL history and first in Steelers history to record 100 receptions and 1,000 yards apiece in a single season. Smith-Schuster was voted Team MVP for his breakout year.

With Tomlin at the helm, six Steelers were named to the Pro Bowl for their 2018 performances — the third consecutive season with at least five selections. Brown, running back James Conner, defensive tackle Cameron Heyward and offensive linemen DeCastro, Maurkice Pouncey and Villanueva all received Pro Bowl accolades.

In 2017, Tomlin led the Steelers to a 13-3 record, including a 6-0 record against the AFC North, securing his sixth division title and a No. 2 seed in the AFC for the postseason. The team's 13 wins marked the most wins in a single season in the Tomlin era.

Under Tomlin's guidance, Roethlisberger became the eighth quarterback in NFL history to reach 50,000 passing yards, finishing the 2017 season with a career total of 51,065. Brown was voted team MVP for his outstanding performance and became the first Steeler to earn the honor four times (2011, '13, '15 and '17). Brown led the league with 1,533 receiving yards and set an NFL record for the most receptions (582) and receiving yards (7,848) by a player in any five-year span in League history. For the second straight season, running back Le'Veon Bell led the AFC in scrimmage yards per game (129.7) and surpassed his own Steelers single-season record for receptions by a running back with 85. Defensively, the team led the NFL and set a Steelers single-season record with 56 sacks in 2017.

For their efforts, Roethlisberger, Brown and Bell were named to the Pro Bowl along with kicker Chris Boswell, linebacker Ryan Shazier, and offensive linemen DeCastro, Maurkice Pouncey and Villanueva. Brown, Bell and DeCastro were also named AP All-Pro, along with Heyward. Heyward and fullback Roosevelt Nix were also added to the Pro Bowl roster prior to the game.

The Steelers finished with an 11-5 record in 2016, and won each of the team's final seven regular-season games, to secure the AFC North title and No. 3 seed in the AFC for the postseason. It marked the fifth time Tomlin led the Steelers to at least 11 wins in the regular season. Pittsburgh won its first two postseason games, vs. Miami in an AFC Wild Card Game and at Kansas City in an AFC Divisional Playoff, before falling to the New England Patriots in the AFC Championship Game.

Bell was voted the Steelers' MVP for his 2016 efforts. He led the NFL in scrimmage yards per game (157.0), and he became the fastest player in NFL history to reach 3,000 rushing yards and 1,500 receiving yards in his career (38 games). In the Steelers' Week 14 victory at Buffalo in 2016, Bell set the single-game team record with 236 rushing yards and tied the single-game team mark with three rushing TDs.

Roethlisberger and Brown continued to etch their names in NFL history. Roethlisberger finished the season with the ninth-most passing TDs in NFL history (301) and the 10th-most passing yards in NFL history (46,814). Brown set numerous NFL records, including one for the most receptions in a player's first 100 career regular-season games (622) and one for the most receptions in NFL history by a player in any four-year span (481).

Tomlin also reached his 100th career win in 2016 and did so in the fewest games (157) in team history. He became the eighth head coach in NFL history to reach 100 regular-season wins in their first 10 seasons.

Despite significant injuries to multiple starters during the 2015 season, the Steelers finished with a 10-6 record (2nd in the AFC North) and advanced to the Divisional Round of the playoffs. The Steelers finished third in the NFL in total offense (1st in the AFC), while the defense posted 48 sacks under first-year defensive coordinator Keith Butler. The 48 sacks were the third most in the NFL in 2015.

In 2014, Tomlin orchestrated one of the top offensive outputs in team history. The Steelers broke numerous offensive records, including points scored (436), total yards (6,577), passing yards per game (301.6) and total first downs (379). On an individual basis in 2014, Tomlin guided Roethlisberger, Brown and Bell — who all made the Pro Bowl — to record-setting years.

Arguably one of his best coaching performances may have come in the second half of the 2013 season. Despite an 0-4 and 2-6 start to the season, the Steelers finished the regular season surging to a 6-2 second-half record, falling just short of the playoffs.

In 2012, Tomlin led the Steelers to a 27-10 victory over the New York Jets in the home opener, becoming the first coach in team history to win his first six home openers. The Steelers finished the season with the top-ranked overall defense (275.8 yards/game) and finished first in passing defense (185.2 yards/game).

In 2011, Tomlin led the Steelers to a 12-4 record, marking the second straight season the team posted 12 wins, which was only the second time in team history it had been achieved. The Steelers finished the season with the top-ranked total defense (271.8 ypg) and scoring defense (14.2 ppg). Pittsburgh posted a 7-1 record at home in 2011, for the second time in Tomlin's career (2007). He also had five players (Roethlisberger, Mike Wallace, Pouncey, Troy Polamalu and Brown) selected to the Pro Bowl following the season.

Tomlin's seven road wins during the 2010 regular season tied a Steelers record previously set in 1978 and 2004. The Steelers finished second in total defense under Tomlin's guidance in 2010, allowing only 276.8 yards per game. Pittsburgh led the NFL and set a team record in rushing defense, yielding only 62.8 yards per game (1,004 yards), the third-best total in NFL history dating back to 1970. The Steelers also established an NFL record in 2010 by not allowing an opponent to rush for more than 75 yards in any of their first eight games during the regular season.

In all, the Steelers' defense led the NFL in 2010 in rushing yards allowed (62.8 yds./game), points allowed (232), touchdowns allowed (22), quarterback sacks (48), rushing average (3.0), yards per play (4.5) and yards allowed on first down (4.08). It finished second in the league in passing average (6.31), turnover advantage (+14) and red-zone efficiency (40.0, tied).

Under Tomlin, the Steelers broke new ground on offense in 2009. Pittsburgh's offense ranked seventh in the NFL (ninth passing, 19th rushing) but became the first unit in team history to boast a 4,000-yard passer (Roethlisberger), two 1,000-yard receivers (Hines Ward, Santonio Holmes) and a 1,000-yard rusher (Rashard Mendenhall) in the same season. Pittsburgh's defense ranked fifth in the NFL (third vs. run, 16th vs. pass) while leading the AFC and finishing one shy of the NFL lead with 47 quarterback sacks.

The Steelers continued to be dominant at home under Tomlin in 2009. Pittsburgh finished with a 6-2 home record after finishing 7-1 (2007) and 6-2 (2008) at home during Tomlin's first two seasons.

Tomlin finished the 2008 season with a 12-4 record and his second consecutive AFC North Division title, becoming the only Steelers head coach to win division crowns in each of his first two seasons. He also set a record with 22 regular-season wins in his first two years at the helm and is the only Steelers head coach to win at least 10 games in each of his first two seasons. Tomlin's .688 winning percentage (22-10) after two years is the best in Steelers history.

The Steelers' defense was dominant under Tomlin's guidance in 2008, leading the NFL in total defense (237.2), pass defense (156.9), points per game (13.9), total yards per play (3.9), rushing yards per attempt (3.3), passing yards per attempt (4.7) and third-down efficiency (31.4), while finishing second in rush defense (80.3).

Tomlin led the Steelers to a 10-6 record in 2007 and became just the second coach in team history to post a winning record, win a division title and earn a playoff berth in his inaugural season. Tomlin began his head coaching career by becoming only the second Steelers head coach to win his first three games. During 2007, the Steelers became just the fifth team in NFL history to win their first four home games by at least 20 points.

Tomlin guided the Steelers to the NFL's top-ranked defense in 2007, yielding only 266.4 yards per game. The Steelers' defense ranked third in the NFL against both the run (89.9 avg.) and the pass (176.5 avg.), and finished third in the league in total yards allowed per play (4.6). Pittsburgh's defense led the NFL in passing yards per play (5.7) and first downs allowed per game (15.6), and finished second in the league in points allowed per game (16.8).

The Steelers' offense finished third in the NFL in rushing (135.5 avg.) during Tomlin's first season, sparked by Willie Parker, who led the league in rushing before injuring his leg in Week 16. Roethlisberger enjoyed a record-setting season during Tomlin's first year, establishing new team records for TD passes (32) and passer rating (104.1) while earning his first career Pro Bowl appearance.

Tomlin was the NFL's second-youngest head coach in 2007, and he became only the second Steelers coach in team history to win at least 10 games during his first year at the helm. The Steelers posted a 7-1 record at home in 2007 and were 5-1 in the AFC North (3-0 at home).

Tomlin spent the 2006 season as the Minnesota Vikings' defensive coordinator. That season, the Vikings ranked eighth in the NFL in total defense and first against the run while not allowing a 100-yard rusher the entire season.

Tomlin was the defensive backs coach with the Tampa Bay Buccaneers from 2001-05. In 2002, Tomlin guided one of the most productive defensive backfields in the NFL, culminating with its performance in Super Bowl XXXVII. The secondary recorded four of the team's five interceptions, returning two for touchdowns, to help Tampa Bay capture the franchise's first Super Bowl title.

Before joining Tampa Bay's staff, Tomlin served two seasons as the defensive backs coach at the University of Cincinnati (1999-00). He took over a secondary that ranked 111th in the nation in pass defense in 1998 and helped them improve to 61st overall in his first season. Under Tomlin's direction in 2000, the Bearcats ranked eighth in the nation in interceptions as well as fourth nationally in total turnovers.

Prior to joining the Cincinnati staff, Tomlin had a short stint on the coaching staff at Tennessee-Martin and then spent two seasons at Arkansas State, coaching wide receivers in 1997 before switching to defensive backs in 1998.

Tomlin spent the 1996 season as a graduate assistant at the University of Memphis, where he worked with the Tiger defensive backs and special teams units. He began his coaching career in 1995 as wide receivers coach at Virginia Military Institute.

Tomlin was a three-year starter at wide receiver at William & Mary (1990-94) and finished his career with 101 receptions for 2,054 yards and 20 TD catches. A first-team All-Yankee Conference selection in 1994, he established a school record with a 20.2 yards-per-catch average.

Tomlin is very active in the community and was recognized, along with his wife Kiya, in February 2013 by the Chuck Cooper Foundation with the Career Achievement in Leadership Diversity and Community Service Award. Tomlin also participates in the annual ManUp Pittsburgh conference which encourages local men to be better fathers and role models.

The Steelers' offense in 2024 showed signs of progress under Smith. Pittsburgh improved in total offense, rush offense and scoring offense in 2024.

The Steelers leaned heavily on the run, ranking 11th in the League in rush offense (127.4 yards/game) and logging the fourth-most rushing attempts in the NFL.

ARTHUR
SMITH
OFFENSIVE COORDINATOR

DANNY SMITH

SPECIAL TEAMS COORDINATOR

Danny Smith is in his 13th season with the Steelers as the special teams' coordinator. Smith was hired on January 31, 2013.

Since joining the Steelers in 2015, kicker Chris Boswell is 272-of-309 overall on field goal attempts (88.0%), including 123-of-153 (80.4%) from 40 yards or longer. He ranks second in field goal percentage (88.0%) among all NFL kickers with at least 300 field goal attempts since the start of the 2015 season. Boswell's 88.0 field goal percent ranks first in Steelers history among kickers with at least 300 field goal attempts. He has registered a franchise-record 10 career game-winning field goals (last five min. of the fourth quarter or overtime for a lead change).

In 2024, Boswell led the NFL in field goals made (41), points by a kicker (158) and field goal percentage (93.2, min. 35 FGA), and also ranked second in field goal attempted (44). His 158 points are tied for the fifth-most by any kicker since the 1970 AFL-NFL merger. His 41 field goals made in 2024 are the second-most by any kicker since the 1970 AFL-NFL merger.

TOM ARTH

QUARTERBACKS COACH

Tom Arth is in his second season as the Steelers' quarterbacks coach in 2025.

The Steelers completely made over their quarterback room in 2024.

The Steelers went from averaging 186.1 yards passing/game with 13 TD passes and nine interceptions in 2023 to 192.0 passing yards/game with 21 TD passes and just six interceptions.

The combination of Russell Wilson and Justin Fields also rushed 105 times for 444 yards and seven more TDs.

Arth and his wife, Lauren, have five children, Carolina, Tommy, Kate, Patrick and Elizabeth.

ZACH AZZANNI

WIDE RECEIVERS COACH

Zach Azzanni is in his second season as the Steelers' wide receivers coach in 2025.

Azzanni mentored the breakout of third-year wideout Calvin Austin III in 2024. Austin III finished the season with 36 receptions for 548 yards and four TDs, averaging 15.2 yards/catch and showing he could be a big-play contributor. Austin also served as the team's punt returner and ranked seventh in the NFL with a 10.3-yard average.

Azzanni has coached wide receivers for 27 years, spending seven seasons coaching that group with N.Y. Jets (2023), Denver Broncos (2018-22) and Chicago Bears (2017), following 18 years at the collegiate level.

In 2023, wide receiver Garrett Wilson surpassed 1,000 receiving yards, making him the first wideout in Jets history to record 1,000 yards receiving in each of his first two seasons.

In 2020, Azzanni coached first-round pick Jerry Jeudy, who registered 52 catches for 856 yards (16.5 avg.) with three TDs – the second-most receptions (52) and receiving yards (856) by a Denver rookie.

It was one of Heyward's most complete seasons in his career. He got more votes than any other defensive tackle in the NFL for the Associated Press All-Pro Team, showing just how dominant a season he posted.

Watt was voted the team MVP for a team-record fifth time after a season in which he had 61 tackles, including 19 for a loss, 11.5 sacks, a league-high six forced fumbles, 27 quarterback hits and four pass defenses. EDDIE FAULKNER

RUNNING BACKS COACH

Eddie Faulkner is in his seventh season as the running backs coach for the Steelers, after being hired on January 17, 2019.

The running back group was assured of being a big part of every game plan under first-year offensive coordinator Arthur Smith in 2024. That proved to be the case, as only the Eagles and Ravens ran the ball a higher percentage than the 52.1 the Steelers posted in 2024.

Najee Harris led the way with 263 carries for 1,043 yards and six TDs. He also caught 36 passes for 283 yards. It was Harris' fourth-consecutive 1,000-yard season to open his career, making him just the 14th player in league history to do so.

Faulkner mentored the tandem of Harris and Jaylen Warren, each of whom eclipsed 1,000 scrimmage yards in 2023. Harris and Warren were the fourth duo in franchise history to eclipse 1,000 scrimmage yards in the same season and first since Walter Abercrombie and Earnest Jackson in 1986.

In 2022, with Faulkner's guidance, Harris eclipsed 1,000 rushing yards for the second consecutive season, becoming the first running back in franchise history to do so in each of his first two seasons.

Faulkner oversaw the development of Harris in 2021 who led the NFL in touches (377), led all NFL running backs in catches (74) and finished the season with the most rushes (307), rushing yards (1,200), catches and receiving yards (467) by a rookie running back in franchise history, culminating in a trip to the Pro Bowl.

Prior to joining the Steelers, Faulkner spent six years, 2013-18, at NC State as the school's tight ends/fullbacks/special teams coordinator.

Faulkner spent the 2012 season at the University of Wisconsin coaching the Badgers' tight ends.

Jacob Pederson won All-Big Ten honors and the League's Kwalick-Clark Tight End of the Year award.

In 2011, Faulkner held the running backs/special teams coordinator title at Northern Illinois University.

Following the 2002 season at Anderson University, Faulkner spent the 2003-10 campaigns at Ball State University, serving as a graduate assistant (2003-04), running backs/special teams (2005-08) and the offensive coordinator/running backs (2009-10), including a stint as the school's interim head coach at the end of the 2010 season.

In his third season in 2022, Martin worked with a defense that consistently improved over the course of the year, holding opponents to 17 points or less through its final seven games.

With Martin's assistance, Watt became the NFL's 2021 Defensive Player of the Year, tallying a career-high 22.5 sacks, 21 tackles for loss and five forced fumbles.

In 2020, Martin assisted with one of the top pass-rushing units in the NFL, which included the tandem of Watt and Bud Dupree, who combined for 23.0 sacks, 56 quarterback hits and 31 tackles for loss.

Prior to joining the Steelers in 2016, Martin spent a year as a recruiting graduate assistant at the University of Missouri in 2015, where he played linebacker from 2010-14. Martin, a native of St. Louis, Mo., received a degree in multidisciplinary studies in 2014 and a master's in education with an emphasis in positive coaching from Missouri in 2015.

Meyer, who boasted 20 years of coaching experience prior to his arrival in Pittsburgh, including nine in the NFL, joined the Steelers after two seasons with the Carolina Panthers as their offensive line coach (2020-21). He also coached offensive line in the NFL with the L.A. Chargers (2017-19) and Chicago Bears (2013-14).

The Steelers selected three offensive linemen in the 2024 NFL Draft, taking tackle Troy Fautanu in the first round, center Zach Frazier in the second and guard Mason McCormick in the fourth, one year after the selection of Broderick Jones in the first round and Spencer Anderson in the seventh.

The Steelers started four different line combinations in the first six games because of injuries, but Meyer mentored Frazier with being if not the best rookie offensive linemen in the NFL in 2024, then most certainly the best center.

Isaac Williams is entering his fifth season as the Steelers' assistant offensive line coach in 2025. He was hired by Pittsburgh on March 15, 2022.

Meyer's unit blocked for Najee Harris and Jaylen Warren, who each eclipsed 1,000 scrimmage yards in 2023. They're the fourth duo in franchise history to eclipse 1,000 scrimmage yards in the same season.

In his first year in Pittsburgh, the run game improved from ranking 24th in the League through the first half of the season, to finishing third-best after Week 10.

Prior to Carolina, Meyer served as the offensive line coach for the Chargers for three years, and also spent two seasons with the Buffalo Bills (2015-16).

Meyer began his NFL coaching career with the Chicago Bears, first as an assistant offensive line coach in 2013 before taking over the primary coaching duties in 2014.

Meyer spent one season in the Canadian Football League in 2012, where was an offensive line coach and offensive coordinator for the Montreal Alouettes.

Meyer began coaching as a graduate assistant at Memphis in 1997, where he served multiple roles.

Meyer led the strength and conditioning program at NC State for six years (2000-05) before becoming their offensive line coach in 2006.

In 2007, Meyer headed the strength and conditioning staff at Florida State. He returned to his alma mater, Colorado State, for three seasons (2008-11).

Meyer played offensive line at Colorado State from 1991-94, where he was a three-time All-Western Athletic Conference selection.

Williams aided a unit that blocked for the tandem of Najee Harris and Jaylen Warren, each of whom eclipsed 1,000 scrimmage yards in 2023. Harris and Warren were the fourth duo in franchise history to eclipse 1,000 scrimmage yards in the same season and first since 1986.

In his first year with the Steelers, the run game improved from ranking 24th in the League through the first half of the season, to finishing third-best after Week 10.

Williams came to Pittsburgh after collegiate stints at North Carolina Central University (2021), Morgan State (2018-20) and Northern Colorado (2016-17).

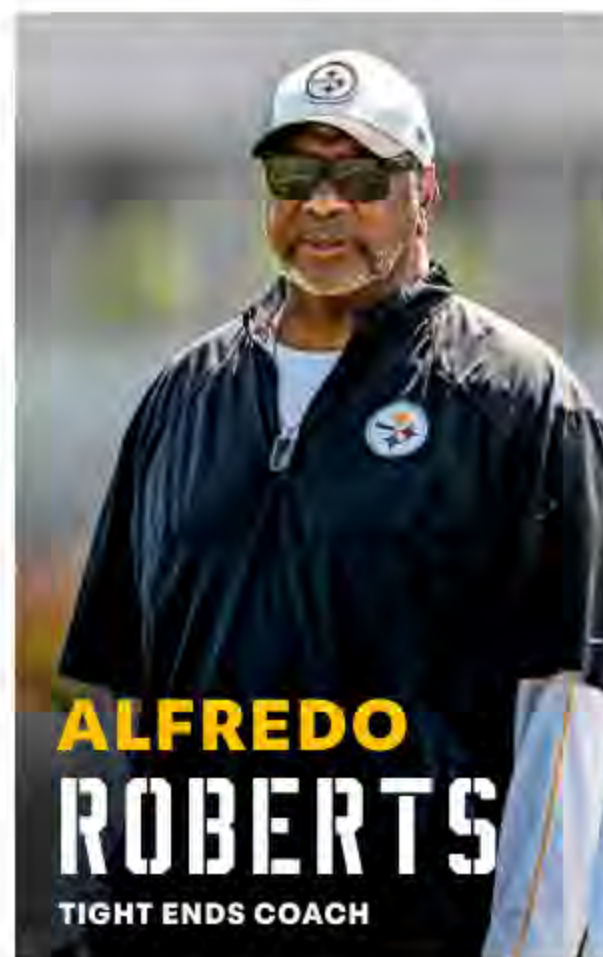

Prior to North Carolina Central, Williams spent three seasons (2018-20) in the MEAC as an offensive line coach/run game coordinator at Morgan State.

While the Bears did not compete in 2020 due to COVID, Williams developed All-MEAC tackle Joshua Miles in 2019, who participated in the East-West Shrine game and was selected by the Arizona Cardinals in the seventh round of the 2019 NFL Draft.

Williams was a four-year starting offensive lineman and three-time captain at Alcorn State (2008-11). He earned all-conference honors as a junior and senior, and graduated with honors. Williams played one season with the Laredo Rattlers of the Arena Football League in 2013.

Williams earned his bachelor's degree in nutrition and dietetics from Alcorn State University in 2012, and then earned his master's degree in education leadership from the University of Northern Colorado in 2017.

His reception total was tied for eighth-most among NFL tight ends, while his TD total was tied for fourth-most at the position. As a group, the tight ends caught 96 passes for 933 yards and 10 TDs, a big uptick from the 2023 season when they combined for just 62 catches for 536 yards and two scores.

In 2023, Roberts managed a position group beset by injuries. Freiermuth finished the season with 32 receptions for 308 yards (9.6 avg.) and two TDs.

In 2022, Roberts saw another year of success from Freiermuth, who despite injuries, finished the season sixth in receptions (63) and receiving yards (732) among all NFL tight ends. His 63 catches also ranked fourth-most by a tight end in a single season in franchise history.

In 2021, Freiermuth – under Roberts' guidance – set a franchise record for receptions (60) and receiving yards by a rookie tight end (497). His seven touchdowns accounted for almost as many as his entire tight end draft class combined (8).

Roberts spent four seasons with the L.A. Chargers as their running backs coach (2017-19) and tight ends coach (2020). He also coached in Indianapolis (2012-15), Tampa Bay (2009-11), Cleveland (2007-08) and Jacksonville (2003-06).

ART ROONEY

SPORTSMANSHIP AWARD

On January 22, 2015, the NFL introduced the "Art Rooney Award." The award is given annually to the player "who best demonstrates the qualities of on-field sportsmanship, including fair play, respect for the game and opponents, and integrity in competition."

Arthur Joseph Rooney Sr.

"The Chief" 1901-1988

One of the great pioneers of the sports world, Art Rooney Sr. was born on January 27, 1901 in Coulterville, Pa., the oldest of nine children. "The Chief," as he was affectionately known, is enshrined in the Pro Football Hall of Fame and is remembered as one of Pittsburgh's greatest people.

Rooney grew up in Old Allegheny, now known as Pittsburgh's North Side, and lived on the North Side his whole life, just a short distance from where Three Rivers Stadium stood.

An exceptional all-around athlete, he held AAU Boxing middleweight and welterweight titles and was named to the U.S. Olympic Boxing Team in 1920, although he did not participate in the Olympic Games. He also played minor league baseball and semi-pro football.

He founded the Pittsburgh Steelers on July 8, 1933, after running several successful semi-professional football clubs.

"The Chief" was inducted into the Pro Football Hall of Fame in 1964 for his contributions to the growth of the NFL and the Steelers. His dedication to pro football was crucial to the NFL during the depression years.

He was instrumental in the transformation of the Steelers as the team won its first four Super Bowl Championships in six years. After the first championship, Super Bowl IX, the team gathered around and presented "The Chief" with the game ball.

TODD BOWLES

PRO CAREER: Todd Bowles enters his fourth season as head coach of the Buccaneers following three seasons as the team's defensive coordinator (2019- 21). Bowles has led the Buccaneers to three consecutive NFC South titles, becoming the first coach in team history to lead the Buccaneers to division crowns across each of his first three seasons at the helm. His 27 regular season wins rank second in franchise history for a head coach over their first three seasons, and he has increased the club's win total over the previous year for two straight seasons. Working with his third offensive coordinator in as many seasons, Bowles guided Tampa Bay to a 10-7 record in 2024 and boasted a top-10 point differential (+117) and yardage differential per game (+57.8). Bowles led a Buccaneers team that featured one of the league's most prolific offenses, establishing franchise records in completion percentage (71.5%), passer rating (106.8), rushing yards (2,536), yards per rush (5.3) and third- down conversion rate (50.9%), while becoming the first team in NFL history to complete at least 70% of their passes and average at least five yards per carry in the same season. During the final seven weeks of the season, Bowles' defense held opponents to 237.9 yards per game and yielded just 26 combined second- half points, helping produce a 6-1 finish and catapulting the Buccaneers to their third straight division title. In 2023, Bowles guided the NFL's eighth-youngest roster to an appearance in the NFC Divisional round, earning his first career playoff win as a head coach in a commanding 32-9 victory over the Philadelphia Eagles in the Super Wild Card Round. He inspired a 5-1 finish in the final six weeks of the regular season to secure Tampa Bay's spot in the playoffs. The defense as a whole finished top five in run defense for the fourth time in five seasons under Bowles and ranked seventh in scoring defense, limiting opponents to just 19.1 points per game in 2023. In 2022, Bowles led the Buccaneers to the NFC South title in his first year as the head coach in Tampa Bay, joining Jon Gruden as the only coaches in franchise history to accomplish that feat in year one. He was the play caller for a defense that finished top 10 in the NFL in total yards per game (324.3 opponent yards/game), yards per play (5.14 avg.), pass defense (203.5 passing yards allowed/ game), net yards per attempt (6.1), sacks (45.0) and tackles for loss (89), while limiting opponents to the fifth-fewest first downs per game (18.5) and the sixth-lowest third down conversion percentage (36.9 percent).

BACKGROUND: Background: Bowles got his start as the defensive coordinator for Morehouse College in 1997, followed by a two-year stint as defensive coordinator at Grambling State (1998-99). He played collegiately at Temple, and despite going undrafted in 1986, played eight years in the NFL, with Washington (1986-90 and 1992-93) and San Francisco (1991), starting on the 1987 Washington team that won Super Bowl XXII. Following his retirement as a player, Bowles spent two seasons (1995-96) with the Green Bay Packers' player personnel department.

PERSONAL: An Elizabeth, N.J., native, he and his wife, Taneka, have three sons, Todd Jr., Troy and Tyson.

COMMUNITY

The Pittsburgh Steelers are proud to be a part of the Western Pennsylvania community.

The organization's strong commitment to this area dates back to 1933 when Arthur J. Rooney, Sr. founded the team. Current President Art Rooney II is known as one of the most active NFL owners and one of Pittsburgh's most involved executives in civic affairs, as was his father, the late Steelers Chairman Dan Rooney.

Steelers players, coaches and front office staff are involved in appearances, charitable donations, and outreach programs with nonprofit and community groups. It's our way of giving back to the community that has given us so much!

Rookie Community Week

Steelers rookies participated in the team's annual Rookie Community Week, visiting the Mel Blount Youth Home, Urban Impact, and the Best of the Batch Foundation.

To kick off Community Week, the 2025 Steelers rookie class visited the Best of the Batch Foundation. They toured the facility and participated in an egg drop competition with youth in the foundation summer programs. The rookies had the opportunity to connect with the kids and inspire them through teamwork and creativity in friendly competition.

The following day, the rookie class teamed up with Urban Impact for a Youth Football Clinic, where they led drills and interactive games. The players created a positive environment and emphasized the importance of staying active and being a positive influence in both their homes and communities.

To close out the week, the rookies visited the Mel Blount Youth Home, where they participated in football drills and conversations to inspire local youth. The visit gave the players an opportunity to make a lasting impact within the community and further connect with Pittsburgh-based organizations.

Players Youth Football Camps

During the offseason, Steelers players took part hosting youth football camps in the Pittsburgh community and their hometowns. Players like Cam Heyward, Deshon Elliott, and Derrick Harmon hosted camps, to spend time teaching different skills, running drills, and inspiring young athletes. The camps provided an opportunity for the players to give back and continue building relationships with the next generation.

Training Camp

The Steelers officially kicked off Training Camp at Saint Vincent College, marking the start of their preseason, where they hosted several community groups. Several organizations—including the Clairton Youth Development Home, Boys & Girls Club, and Urban Impact—were invited to attend practice, meet players, and get a behind-the-scenes look at camp. Players took time after practice to greet the kids, sign autographs and take photos, creating a memorable experience for the guests.

HALL OF HONOR

The Pittsburgh Steelers Hall of Honor, established with its inaugural class of 27 members in 2017, is comprised of former players, coaches and front office personnel who were integral in creating and sustaining the franchise's success dating back to when the team was founded in 1933.

Each Hall of Honor inductee receives a replica of the solid steel football that was given to Steelers founder Art Rooney Sr. by the United States Steel Corporation and United Steel Workers in 1982 to commemorate the team's 50th season. The footballs are on display in the Steelers Hall of Honor Museum located in Acrisure Stadium, which provides opportunities for fans to learn more about the franchise, view rare artifacts preserved by the team, and relive the biggest moments and people in Steelers history.

PITTSBURGH STEELERS HISTORY

The fifth-oldest franchise in the NFL, the Pittsburgh Steelers were founded on July 8, 1933, by Arthur Joseph Rooney. Originally named the Pittsburgh Pirates, they were a member of the Eastern Division of the 10-team NFL. The other four current NFL teams in existence at that time were the Chicago (Arizona) Cardinals, Green Bay Packers, Chicago Bears and New York Giants.

One of the great pioneers of the sports world, Art Rooney passed away on August 25, 1988, following a stroke at the age of 87. "The Chief," as he was affectionately known, is enshrined in the Pro Football Hall of Fame and is remembered as one of Pittsburgh's greatest people.

Born on January 27, 1901, in Coulterville, Pa., Art Rooney was the oldest of Daniel and Margaret Rooney's nine children. He grew up in Old Allegheny, now known as Pittsburgh's North Side, and until his death he lived on the North Side, just a short distance from where Three Rivers Stadium stood.

Rooney attended St. Peter's Parochial School and Duquesne University Prep School. He studied collegiately at Indiana (Pa.) Normal, which is now Indiana University of Pennsylvania, as well as at Georgetown and Duquesne.

An exceptional all-around athlete, Rooney held middleweight and welterweight titles from the AAU Boxing Championships and was named to the U.S. Olympic Boxing Team in 1920, although he did not participate in the Olympic Games. He played minor league baseball from 1920-25 before a promising career was cut short by an arm injury. Rooney continued playing football for several semi-pro teams in the Pittsburgh area. He was married on June 11, 1931, to Kathleen McNulty, and the couple had five sons — Daniel, Art Jr., Tim, John and Pat. In 1964, Rooney was inducted into the Pro Football Hall of Fame for his contributions to the growth of the NFL and the Pittsburgh Steelers.

By the mid-1960s, Rooney had begun to turn over much of the operation of the Steelers to his oldest son, Dan. After having worked in every area of the organization since 1955, Daniel M. Rooney was named president of the Steelers in 1975. In 2000, Dan Rooney was inducted into the Pro Football Hall of Fame. He joined his father Art to form only the second father-son tandem to be inducted into the Hall of Fame. The late New York Giants owners Wellington Mara and his father Tim were the first.

Late Steelers Chairman, Ambassador Dan Rooney, spent 54 consecutive years with the organization before being named U.S. Ambassador to Ireland in 2009 by President Barack Obama. Rooney was required to move to Ireland in 2009 to fulfill his duties as ambassador.

As an NFL owner, Dan Rooney was widely recognized as one of the league's most influential executives and one of Pittsburgh's leading contributors to civic affairs. Among his community activities, he was the co-founder of the American Ireland Fund, and he was a board member of the United Way of America, the American Diabetes Association, the Pittsburgh History and Landmarks Foundation, the Extra Mile Foundation and the University of Pittsburgh Medical Center.

Dan Rooney was a member of several NFL committees over 30-plus years. He served on the board of directors for the NFL Trust Fund, NFL Films and the Scheduling Committee. He was appointed chairman of the Expansion Committee in 1973, which considered new franchise locations and directed the addition of Seattle and Tampa Bay as expansion teams in 1976.

In 1976, Rooney was also named chairman of the Negotiating Committee, and in 1982 he contributed to the negotiations for the Collective Bargaining Agreement for the NFL and the Players Association. He again played a key role in the labor agreement reached between NFL owners and players in 1993. Rooney was also largely responsible for developing the realignment plan and scheduling format that the NFL adopted prior to the 2002 season. In October 2002, he was named chairman of the NFL's Diversity in the Workplace Committee. Rooney was also Chairman of the Hall of Fame Committee. In February 1999, he was named the recipient of the Philadelphia Maxwell Football Club's Francis J. "Reds" Bagnell Award for outstanding contributions to the game of football.

Daniel M. Rooney was born on Pittsburgh's North Side on July 20, 1932. He was a 1950 graduate of North Catholic High School, where he played quarterback on the varsity football team. He went on to graduate from Duquesne University in 1955 with a bachelor of arts degree in accounting. Rooney passed away on April 13, 2017 at the age of 84, survived at the time by his wife of 66 years, Patricia (who passed away in 2021), and seven of their nine children, 20 grandchildren and five great-grandchildren.

Dan Rooney was named Steelers Chairman Emeritus in July 2009 after he was named United States Ambassador to Ireland. Rooney served as United States Ambassador until late 2012.

In 2003, Dan Rooney officially turned over the title of Steelers team president to his oldest son, Arthur J. Rooney II, who had previously served as the team's president and general counsel. A 1978 graduate of the University of Pittsburgh where he majored in political science, Art II received his law degree from Duquesne University School of Law in 1982. He currently serves as Chairman of the NFL's Stadium Workplace Diversity Committee as well as the Chair of the NFL Compensation Committee. He also serves on additional NFL committees including the Legislative Committee, the Management Council Executive Committee, the International Committee, Health & Safety Advisory Committee and the NFL Foundation.

Art Rooney II is also very active in the Pittsburgh community, devoting a substantial amount of his time to various organizations. He currently serves as Chairman of the Board of St. Vincent College, Chairman of the board of the Chuck Noll Foundation for Brain Injury Research, and he serves on several other non-profit boards including United Way of Southwest Pennsylvania and the Board of Trustees for the University of Pittsburgh.

July 29, 2000 – Art and Dan Rooney form only the second father-son tandem to be inducted into the Hall of Fame.

December 21

The Steelers play their first postseason game, a 21-0 setback to the Philadelphia Eagles in the Eastern Division Playoffs.

1957

Lowell Perry becomes the NFL's first African-American assistant coach.

1964

October 25

The Steelers retire Ernie Stautner's No. 70, becoming the first jersey number to be retired in team history.

1969

January 27

Chuck Noll is named head coach of the Steelers.

1969

January 28

"Mean" Joe Greene is selected by the Steelers in the first round of the NFL Draft.

1930s After founding the Pirates in 1933,

Art Rooney watched his club struggle through its first seven seasons with just 22 wins and five different head coaches. While home games were played at Forbes Field, Rooney often took his team to such cities as Johnstown, Latrobe, Youngstown, New Orleans and Louisville in the 1930s due to competition with baseball and college football.

In 1938, Rooney signed Colorado All-American Byron "Whizzer" White to a $15,800 contract, making White the first "big money" player in the NFL. White led the League in rushing that year and became one of the NFL's most illustrious alumni. He served 31 years as a Justice of the United States Supreme Court before retiring in 1993.

1950s Succeeding Sutherland, John Michelosen was head coach for the 1948-51 seasons, compiling a 20-26-2 record. In 1952, Joe Bach returned for his second stint with the Steelers, having coached the team previously in 1935-36. The Steelers became the last team to abandon the single wing for the T-formation in 1952.

Bach resigned for health reasons following the 1954 season and was replaced by assistant coach Walt Kiesling, who had been the Steelers' head coach twice previously. Kiesling's three stints covered the 1939-40, 1941-44 and the 1954-56 campaigns.

STEELERS HISTORY

The Steelers are the fifth-oldest franchise in the NFL. The team was founded on July 8, 1933.

1940s In 1940, Rooney changed the team name to the Pittsburgh Steelers, representing the heritage of Pittsburgh. The first winning record in the organization's history came in 1942 when head coach Walt Kiesling led the Steelers to a 7-4 finish with the league-leading rushing of rookie Bill Dudley. But the next year, Dudley joined the Armed Forces along with many other NFL players as the nation went to war. With rosters depleted, Rooney merged the Steelers with the Philadelphia Eagles in 1943 (Phil-Pitt "Steagles") and with the Chicago Cardinals (Card-Pitt) in 1944.

Rooney hired legendary Pitt coach Jock Sutherland in 1946, and Dudley returned from the war to earn NFL MVP honors, leading the league in rushing, interceptions and punt returns. Today, Dudley is a member of the Pro Football Hall of Fame.

Sutherland led the 1947 Steelers to an 8-4 record and a share of the Eastern division title, but they lost their first-ever postseason game 21-0 to Philadelphia. Sutherland died suddenly the following spring while on a scouting trip.

The Steelers signed Byron "Whizzer" White to a $15,800 contract, making White the first "big money" player in the NFL.

1960s Buddy Parker was named head coach in 1957 and over the next eight years he led the Steelers to five non-losing seasons. Hall of Fame quarterback Bobby Layne led the team through three of those campaigns, leading the Steelers to a 9-5 mark and a playoff game versus Detroit in 1962, which the Steelers lost 17-10. Parker completed his tenure with a 51-48-6 record and ranks fourth among all-time Steelers coaches for career wins.

On October 25, 1964, the Steelers made team history when they retired jersey No. 70 in honor of former defensive tackle Ernie Stautner. Stautner, who was inducted into the Pro Football Hall of Fame in 1969, became the first Steelers player to have his jersey retired.

Brief head coaching stints by Mike Nixon in 1965 and Bill Austin from 1966-68 preceded the hiring of 37-year-old Chuck Noll on January 27, 1969. Noll began to rebuild the Steelers through the draft, starting with the defense when he selected defensive tackle Joe Greene with his first choice in 1969. Today, Greene is a member of the Pro Football Hall of Fame, and joined Stautner as the only three players to have their jerseys retired by the team. Greene's No. 75 was officially retired on November 2, 2014.

A 1-13 record in 1969 gave the Steelers the first overall choice in the 1970 draft, with which Noll addressed the offense by selecting quarterback Terry Bradshaw, another Hall of Famer, after the Steelers won the first selection by winning a coin toss with the Chicago Bears. Cornerback Mel Blount was added in the third round that year, followed by linebacker Jack Ham in 1971 and running back Franco Harris in 1972. In all, Noll drafted 10 players who are now enshrined in the Hall of Fame including three in his first 20 picks and four of his first 38.

Two significant changes took place in 1970. The Steelers moved from the NFL Century Division to the AFC Central with the merger of the American Football League and the NFL. The Steelers also moved into a new home as Three Rivers Stadium opened. Previously, the Steelers had played home games at Forbes Field from 1933-57 and at both Forbes Field and Pitt Stadium from 1958-63. From 1964-69, the Steelers played at Pitt Stadium until Three Rivers opened in 1970.

Gradual improvement in the early 1970s resulted in the team's first division title in 1972 with an 11-3 record. In the first playoff game at Three Rivers, the Steelers defeated the Oakland Raiders 13-7 with Franco Harris' "Immaculate Reception" in the final minute. Despite a 21-17 loss the following week to the undefeated Miami Dolphins, the Steelers had reached a new plateau.

It took 40 years for the Steelers to finally win their first division title, but over the next decade they achieved a level of success unprecedented in professional football.

In 1973, the Steelers won a wild card playoff berth with a 10-4 record. Oakland avenged their loss from the previous year, however, with a 33-14 defeat of the Steelers in the playoffs.

January 29, 1974 – The Steelers select future Hall of Famers Lynn Swann (first round), Jack Lambert (second), John Stallworth (fourth) and Mike Webster (fifth) in the NFL Draft. Many consider it the best draft in NFL history. Following the draft, the Steelers also signed free agent Donnie Shell, who was elected into the Hall of Fame in 2020.

The Steelers won their first of six consecutive AFC Central titles in 1974 and marched past Buffalo (32-14) and Oakland (24-13) en route to their first Super Bowl appearance in Super Bowl IX. The fierce Pittsburgh defense led the way to a 16-6 victory over the Minnesota Vikings, and Art Rooney was presented the Vince Lombardi Trophy for the first time.

In 1975, the Steelers won 11 straight games to finish 12-2 and claimed their second-consecutive division crown. After defeating Baltimore (28-10) and Oakland (16-10) in the playoffs, the Steelers became the third team in NFL history, joining Green Bay and Miami, to win back-to-back Super Bowls with a 21-17 defeat of the Dallas Cowboys in Super Bowl X.

The 1976 Steelers struggled to a 1-4 start before reeling off nine straight victories, including five shutouts, to win the division with a 10-4 mark. They defeated Baltimore 40-14 in the playoffs, but lost to Oakland 24-7 after both starting running backs, Franco Harris and Rocky Bleier, were injured. The following year, the Steelers dropped a 34-21 decision to Denver in the first round of the playoffs after posting a 9-5 regular-season record.

In 1978, the Steelers made history after a league-best 14-2 regular season and playoff wins versus Denver (33-10) and Houston (34-5). Their 35-31 Super Bowl XIII win versus Dallas made the Steelers the first team to win three Super Bowls.

Yet another standard was set the following year when the 1979 Steelers defeated the Los Angeles Rams 31-19 in Super Bowl XIV to make them the first team in history to win four Super Bowls and the only team to win back-to-back Super Bowls twice. The Super Bowl victory followed a 12-4 regular-season record and playoff wins versus Miami (34-14) and Houston (27-13). With six consecutive AFC Central crowns, eight straight years of playoff appearances and four Super Bowl championships, the Steelers were tagged the "Team of the Decade" for the 1970s.

1980s As the 1980s opened, the Steelers stumbled, failing to make the playoffs in 1980 and 1981 with records of 9-7 and 8-8.

In 1982, the Steelers celebrated the team's 50th anniversary by qualifying for the playoffs with a 6-3 finish in a strike-interrupted season. During the season, an anniversary banquet was held to commemorate the team's first 50 seasons and to honor the Steelers' all-time team as selected by fan voting. Thousands of fans were attracted to Pittsburgh for a week of activities and exhibits before the anniversary season was ended by San Diego's 31-28 win in the playoffs. This would be the last playoff game at Three Rivers Stadium until the 1992 season, a span of 10 years.

The 1983 Steelers won their eighth division title with a 10-6 record, but fell in the postseason, 38-10, to the Los Angeles Raiders. The following year, the Steelers won their ninth division crown and the team advanced to the AFC Championship game with a 24-17 playoff win at Denver. A 45-28 loss to Miami in the AFC Championship game prevented the Steelers from a fifth Super Bowl appearance.

The Steelers' streak of 13 consecutive non-losing seasons came to an end in 1985 with a 7-9 finish, followed by a 6-10 record in 1986. Playoff hopes remained alive in 1987 until the Steelers lost their last two games to finish 8-7 during the strike-shortened season.

In 1988, the team suffered through its worst campaign in 19 years with a 5-11 record. The next season got off to a similar start with losses of 51-0 and 41-10 in the first two games. But the young team fought back to finish 9-7 and earn a wild card playoff berth on the season's final weekend. An exciting 26-23 overtime playoff win in Houston was followed by a heartbreaking 24-23 divisional playoff loss at Denver in which the Steelers led until the final minutes.

STEELERS HISTORY

In 1992, 34-year-old Bill Cowher became the National Football League's youngest head coach at the time. In his first season, the Steelers won the AFC Central division crown for the first time since 1984.

AP/Rusty Kennedy

1990s A 9-7 finish in 1990 left the Steelers in a three-way tie for the AFC Central lead, but they were eliminated from playoff contention by a 2-4 division record. The 1991 team finished second in the division despite a 7-9 record, winning the last two games under Noll at home against the Cincinnati Bengals and Cleveland Browns.

On December 26, 1991, Noll announced his retirement from football after 39 consecutive seasons, the last 23 as the Steelers' head coach, which made him one of only four men to coach the same team for 23 consecutive years. He left as the fifth-winningest coach in NFL history with an overall record of 209-156-1, and as the only coach to win four Super Bowls. Noll was rewarded in 1993 with his election to the Pro Football Hall of Fame in his first year of eligibility.

A new era began in 1992 with the retirement of Noll and the arrival of 34-year-old Bill Cowher, the National Football League's youngest head coach at the time he assumed control. In the first season of the new era, the Steelers won the AFC Central division crown for the first time since 1984 with an 11-5 record. While the team enjoyed new-found success, Cowher was recognized by the Associated Press as the NFL's Coach of the Year and six Steelers were selected to the Pro Bowl, the most in more than a decade.

Under Cowher, the Steelers became the first AFC team since the 1970 merger to claim its 10th division title. Their 11-5 record equaled the best in the conference and gave the Steelers home field advantage throughout the playoffs. However, in the first postseason game at Three Rivers Stadium in exactly 10 years, the Steelers were defeated by eventual AFC Champion Buffalo, 24-3.

In 1993, the Steelers earned a wild card playoff berth, marking their first consecutive playoff appearances since the 1983-84 seasons. A 9-7 record was good for second place in the division, but the season ended in a 27-24 overtime loss at Kansas City in an AFC Wild Card game.

The 1994 Steelers won seven of their final eight regular-season games for their strongest finish since 1978. They captured their second division title in three years with an AFC-best 12-4 record. After a 29-9 victory over the Cleveland Browns in the first round of the playoffs, Pittsburgh hosted its first AFC Championship game since 1979. The game went down to the wire and the Steelers lost to the San Diego Chargers 17-13.

At 38, Bill Cowher became the youngest head coach to lead his team to a Super Bowl appearance in 1995. Along the way, Cowher's team captured its third AFC Central division title in four years, made its fourth straight playoff appearance and won the Steelers' first AFC title since 1979. After a first-round bye, they defeated the Buffalo Bills (40-21) and the Indianapolis Colts (20-16), before losing to the Dallas Cowboys 27-17 in Super Bowl XXX in Tempe, Ariz.

In 1996, the Steelers finished 10-6 and earned their fifth consecutive trip to the playoffs. Cowher ended the season with 57 career victories, ranking him as the second-winningest coach in team history, behind his predecessor Noll.

The Steelers captured their fourth consecutive AFC Central title in 1997 while posting an 11-5 record. They were one play away from earning their sixth Super Bowl appearance but lost to Denver 24-21 in the AFC Championship game.

In 1998, the Steelers finished a disappointing 7-9, losing their last five regular-season games and missing the playoffs for the first time under Cowher.

The Steelers suffered their second consecutive losing season in 1999, when their record fell to 6-10.

The 1984 Steelers won their ninth division title with a 9-7 record.

2000s After starting the 2000 season with an 0-3 record, the Steelers rebounded to finish the year at 9-7 and barely missed the playoffs.

However, 2000 will be remembered most for being the final season for the Steelers at Three Rivers Stadium. The Steelers were 4-4 at home during their final season, including victories in four of their final six home games. The Steelers won their final game at Three Rivers, 24-3, against the Washington Football Team on Dec. 16.

The Steelers finished 31 seasons at Three Rivers Stadium (1970-2000) with a 182-72 home record, including the postseason. The Steelers recorded their largest regular-season home attendance figures (440,428) since 1998 in the final season, including a season-high 58,183 fans during the final game in stadium history.

The Steelers began a new era in team history in 2001 with the opening of their new stadium, Heinz Field. The Steelers posted an AFC-best 13-3 regular-season record, including a 7-1 mark at home, and advanced to the AFC Championship Game.

The inaugural game was originally scheduled to be a nationally televised Sunday Night game on Sept. 16. However, the September 11 terrorist attacks on America forced the NFL to postpone all games that weekend — which were eventually rescheduled for the end of the season. As a result, the Steelers opened the stadium on Sunday, Oct. 7 with a 16-7 win against the Cincinnati Bengals.

The Steelers defeated the defending Super Bowl Champion Baltimore Ravens 27-10 in the AFC Divisional Playoffs, in the first-ever postseason game played at Heinz Field. However, they suffered a disappointing 24-17 loss at home in the AFC Championship Game to the eventual Super Bowl Champion New England Patriots.

After an 0-2 start in 2002, the Steelers rallied to make the playoffs for the second consecutive season. However, the team's Super Bowl hopes ended when they lost 34-31 in overtime to the Tennessee Titans on the road.

The Steelers began the 2003 season with a 34-15 victory against AFC North rival Baltimore Ravens. However, the team never regained that magic and finished the year with a 6-10 record and missed the playoffs for the first time in three seasons.

The Steelers set a team record in 2004 by becoming the first AFC team to win 15 games (15-1) in the regular season. They ultimately advanced to the AFC Championship Game where they lost to the New England Patriots 41-27. Nine Steelers were selected to play in the AFC-NFC Pro Bowl, the team's most since the 1979 season.

Pittsburgh found itself sitting at 7-5 after 12 games in 2005, but rallied to win its final four regular-season games to earn the AFC's sixth seed in the playoffs. The Steelers then won an unprecedented three straight road playoff games to gain a berth in Super Bowl XL in Detroit versus the Seattle Seahawks.

The Steelers celebrate the 40th Anniversary of the team's first championship and honor late head coach Chuck Noll.

The Steelers captured their fifth Super Bowl title with a 21-10 victory over the Seahawks as wide receiver Hines Ward was named MVP, finishing with five receptions for 123 yards. Ward also hauled in a game-clinching 43-yard TD pass from Antwaan Randle El on a gadget play midway through the fourth quarter.

The 2006 season saw the Bill Cowher era come to an end with the Steelers finishing the season winning six of their final eight games to post an 8-8 record on the year.

On January 5, 2007, Bill Cowher resigned as Steelers head coach with a 161-99-1 overall record, second-best in team history.

The Steelers hired 34-year old Mike Tomlin as the team's head coach on January 22, 2007, becoming the NFL's youngest head coach at the time.

Tomlin became the second first-year coach in team history to make the playoffs in 2007. The Steelers finished with a 10-6 overall record and won the AFC North division title.

STEELERS HISTORY

▼ Wide receiver Santonio Holmes was named MVP after hauling in the game-winning six-yard touchdown pass from Ben Roethlisberger with 35 seconds remaining in regulation.

Tomlin became the first coach in franchise history to win a division title in each of his first two seasons when the Steelers captured their second consecutive AFC North division title with a 12-4 record in 2008. They went on to defeat the San Diego Chargers and Baltimore Ravens to gain a berth in Super Bowl XLIII in Tampa, Fla. versus the Arizona Cardinals.

The Steelers became the first NFL franchise to capture six Super Bowl titles when they defeated the Cardinals 27-23. With the victory, Tomlin became the youngest coach to win a Super Bowl in NFL history (36 years, 323 days). Wide receiver Santonio Holmes was named MVP after hauling in the game-winning six-yard touchdown pass from Ben Roethlisberger with 35 seconds remaining in regulation.

The Steelers added to their legacy, making it all the way to Super Bowl XLV after a 12-4 record during the 2010 season. The team could not overcome an early 18-point deficit and fell to the Green Bay Packers 31-25. Despite the loss, the Steelers still are tied for the NFL record for most Super Bowl victories with six (New England Patriots).

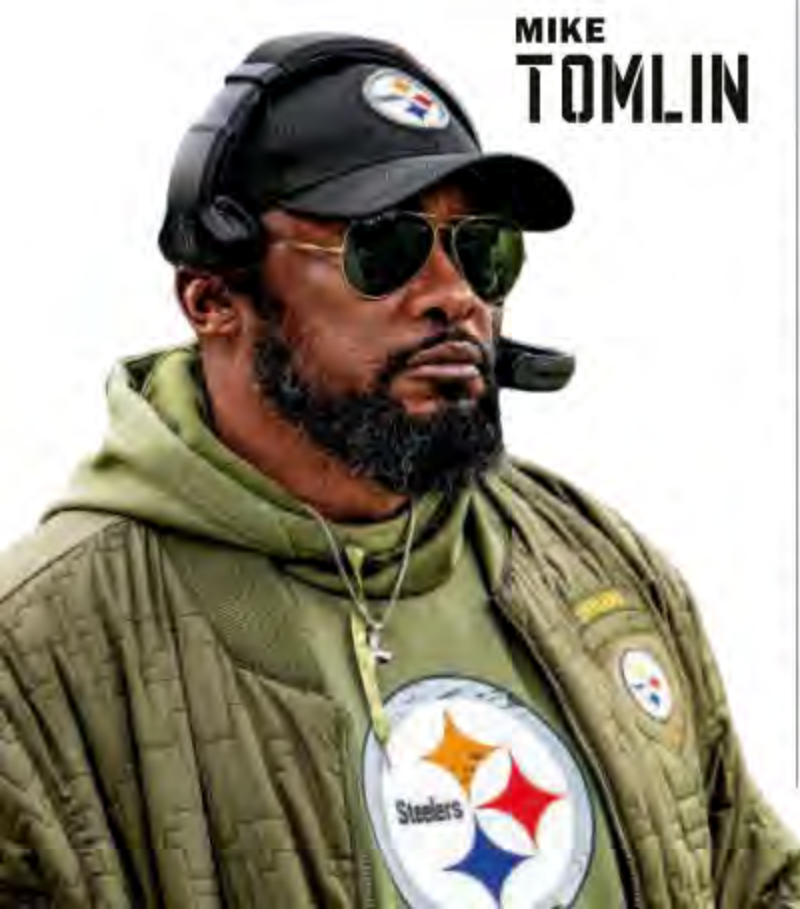

Pittsburgh followed up the Super Bowl appearance with another 12-win season in 2011. The Steelers overcame injuries to key players on both sides of the ball to earn their 26th playoff berth since the 1970 AFL-NFL merger. The 12 victories marked only the second time in team history that Pittsburgh recorded back-to-back regular seasons with at least 12 victories (1978-79). The Steelers again showcased one of the league's best defenses, leading the NFL in pass defense and being the only team to register two shutouts. Hines Ward became the eighth player in NFL history to record at least 1,000 receptions and 12,000 receiving yards and Antonio Brown became the first player in NFL history with at least 1,000 receiving yards and 1,000 return yards in the same season.

The Steelers captured the 2020 AFC North title to mark the team's 24th division title, ninth since 2002 and fourth in the last seven years (2014, 2016, 2017 and 2020).

After back-to-back 8-8 seasons in 2012 and 2013, Pittsburgh returned to the playoffs in 2014. The Steelers finished with an 11-5 record and claimed the AFC North Division Championship, the team's 21st division title since the 1970 AFL-NFL merger, which was tops in the NFL in that span. Pittsburgh had an offensive output for the ages in 2014 as the offense set numerous single-season team records, including total points (436), total net yards (6,577), passing yards per games (301.6), total first downs (379) and individual 100-yard receiving games (12).

The team also donned a CHN commemorative patch in honor of the late Chuck Noll during the 2014 season. The team also retired Joe Greene's No. 75, all during its year of celebrating the team's 40th anniversary of its first championship with a uniform patch in 2014.

Pittsburgh reached the divisional round of the playoffs in 2015. The Steelers went 10-6, upended the AFC North champions Cincinnati in the Wild Card round of the playoffs and lost to eventual Super Bowl champion Denver, 23-16.

▼ In 2016, the Steelers registered a seven-game winning streak, finished with an 11-5 record and captured the AFC North Title.

In 2016, Pittsburgh registered a seven-game winning streak, finished with an 11-5 record and captured the AFC North Title. The Steelers reached their 16th AFC Championship game but fell to New England, 36-17. Pittsburgh's 16 conference championship game appearances, 22 division titles, 29 playoff berths and 36 postseason wins were the most at the time since the AFL-NFL merger in 1970.

On April 13, 2017, the Steelers lost their Hall of Fame owner and Chairman, Ambassador Dan Rooney. The team donned a commemorative patch in honor of the late Mr. Rooney throughout the 2017 season.

The Steelers once again captured the AFC North title in 2017 and finished with a League-best tying 13 victories (13-3) but lost in the divisional round to Jacksonville.

2020s Pittsburgh captured the 2020 AFC North title to mark the team's 24th division title, ninth since 2002 and fourth in the last seven years (2014, 2016, 2017 and 2020). The Steelers earned the division title for the 24th time since the 1970 AFL-NFL merger – the most division crowns by an NFL team in that span.

Since the AFC North was adopted after the restructuring of the 2002 NFL season when the League realigned divisions after expanding to 32 teams, Mike Tomlin has won the division seven times (2007, 2008, 2010, 2014, 2016, 2017 and 2020). No other head coach has won the AFC North more than six times (John Harbaugh). Pittsburgh's nine AFC North titles nearly equal the combined total from the rest of the division since 2002.

STEELERS SUPPORT OF YOUTH FOOTBALL CONTINUES TO GROW

BY TERESA VARLEY, STEELERS.COM

On a warm summer morning, children's laughter could easily be heard, and smiles were as vibrant as the radiant sunshine. As kids enjoyed being outside, doing what they love...

And on this day, what they loved more than anything was football.

Steelers' TIME TO GO BACK.

It's a sport that has been neglected not just throughout this past summer, but since 2009 when the team first introduced the Steelers Youth Football Camps.

The camps started small, mainly attended by those in the local Pittsburgh area, but have grown significantly throughout Western Pennsylvania and will expand, with participants coming from as far as Alaska and Hawaii and some over from overseas, taking in instruction from current and former Steelers players, as well as area youth football coaches who have been recipients of the Steelers High School Coach of the Week award.

"It's always a joy to see kids playing football on a field no matter the time of year, but the field out camps that we put on during the summers are truly special," said Dan Rooney, the Steelers Director of Business Development & Strategy. "We have our current and former players teaching the game of football to the kids from the Steelers Pittsburgh-area community, alongside kids who traveled from other states and countries to these summer camps."

The camps are a major aspect of the Steelers Youth Football Program, not just the first aspect introduced as part of the program, but one that helps grow the sport through instruction, safety and building a love for the game.

"It's the foundation of our game," said Rooney. "That's where a lot of our fans fall in love with the sport of football, it's where they're in their backyard, and they're playing football with their friends and family."

"Kids cannot wait to go to the game. The Steelers want it to be taught the right way, a safe, fun and competitive way. You can learn from some of the great players in our past, or learn from current players on our roster, how to do a football, how to make a handoff, and how to hit a pass. These are the tricks of the trade of football that our youth who attend these camps can pick up and take into their seasons, whether it's flag football, tackle football, or a game of recess. They're going to love the camp's better football players than when they arrived."

This year the Steelers hosted Youth Football Camps at Highlands Sports Complex in West Virginia, Saint Vincent College, Slippery Rock University and Mount Lebanon High School for boys and girls ages 6-14. The teams also partnered for a June 11-20 academy with Park High School.

"Every time we start a football camp, we always have two objectives," said Mike Marchewicz, the Steelers senior manager of alumni relations and youth football. "We want to have fun, and we want to learn something."

"The fun is the number one goal because if they're having fun, they're going to come back and do it again. And obviously now we'll have more games and services. They have so many opportunities to do things. It's not fun, you're not going to spend the time doing it."

"One football is a hard sport. Even if it is pretty easy. We always talk about life lessons and putting it in the very same way some of our guys put the work in, players like Kevin Ward, James Harrison, T.J. Watt and Cameron Heyward. Those are some of the examples that we use."

"You have to make sure it's fun because it is a challenge. It's something that takes a lot of time and effort. So, you've got to have some fun doing it too because there are some challenges. But there is plenty of fun too."

"We want to promote and grow the game of football. That consists of creating opportunities for boys and girls, showing they can play as kids in contact or non-contact. We're trying to increase participation and grow awareness of the game because there are opportunities later in life to either go on to college and play or find a career in football off the field. There's an opportunity to participate, represent your school, maybe represent your college. And there's opportunity in career development talks obviously, that's a long, long way to get there to have a career in sports."

"Through our youth football camps, coaches' clinics, and everything that we do, we want to grow the sport and introduce kids to the game with others."

Association (WIAA) functioning girls flag at a high school level for the upcoming 2025/26 school year.

"It continues to be impressive the talent level that we see whether it's at a camp or during the girls' flag football season," said Rooney. "When we talk about football being a fun, competitive sport, you're absolutely seeing that in girls' flag football and I think that's why it's been such a quick sport to grow. It's a sport that, although it might feel new, they're able to compare it to their experience on the basketball court or the soccer field. The girls are transitioning to flag football."

"We can't wait to see it continue to grow across Western Pennsylvania, which we believe will carry over in 2025 and beyond."

The Steelers and The Marketing Partnership teamed up with the Pittsburgh Post-Gazette, Giant Eagle and Spread Good to be the inaugural Girls Flag 48 Hour Team in 2025, which features high school players from the region who go above and beyond to provide mentorship support to their teammates, in school and in the community.

The program was also elevated more this year with the Girls Flag Football League championship game, airing on KDKA, giving them the same attention as high school football broadcasts in the Western Pennsylvania area.

"We've seen tremendous growth in girls' flag," said Marshbanks. "It's a lot to be a part of because we can see it going from a sport that's new through our camp as a lot, love it, sign you up to be back at our high school program. And there's some girls that played in our flag program that are playing for Pitt and other places where you see a whole life cycle of youths' high school football."

"The fact that we've been able to put more camps on in Mexico, Ireland and Germany, and we've had current and former players teaching the game, is having an impact. Many American youth know how to play our sport. When you go to international markets, it might be their first time seeing American football. At the start of the day, you'll see the kids looking it out, trying to understand the sport, and then by the end of a camp, you see smiles and they're having an absolute blast, which is what we want."

One of the emerging areas in youth football in recent years is the growth, popularity and participation in girls' flag football. The sport has taken off nationwide, and Western Pennsylvania has followed the trend. Flag football will also be played on the biggest stage when it debuts as an Olympic sport in the 2028 Los Angeles Olympic Games.

The Steelers put their support behind a Girls Flag Football League in Pittsburgh the past four years, hosting events at the high school level throughout the year and working to expand the program.

The success the Steelers had in the region, along with the Philadelphia Eagles working with high schools in the Eastern part of the state, led to the Pennsylvania Interscholastic Athletic Western Pennsylvania, and America in general, is a nod to football. There is absolutely no doubt about that.

But there are other places where American football is flourishing, and the Steelers are helping to make that popularity flourish, growing it not just in Western Pennsylvania, but also internationally.

Over the past few years the Steelers have extended their youth football reach to an international audience, including Ireland, Mexico and Germany, all countries where the team has the rights to assist their local fan activities as part of the NFL's "Global Marketing Program."

With the Steelers taking all 160,000 seats in the first ever regular season NFL game in Ireland in September, the goal is to not just bring football to the region, but bring an understanding of the game by teaching it to the younger audience in Ireland and other countries.

"You don't just want to bring two games to three international markets, even though that's a big part of bringing our game to fans," said Rooney. "You also want to teach our game, because that's an important aspect of following a sport. That's really how you fall in love with the game, by picking up a ball and knowing it around with your friends."

A look around the Steelers locker room and it's basically a who's who in athletes who started off playing youth football. Some began playing at their father's well-managed and neighborhood friends, others in flag football, and some in Pop Warner leagues.

It was an experience that helped them grow the love for the game, and the overall understanding of what the sport is about, allowing them to grow their love to where they are today.

"THAT WAS THE TIME THAT I FELL IN LOVE WITH FOOTBALL."

He isn't the only one who fell in love with the sport at a young age. It's a common theme throughout the Steelers locker room. At youth football camp it's where most football stars are deeply seeded.

"Youth football was the start of everything for me."

"Youth football was the start of everything for me," said rookie quarterback Will Howard, who helped first in the Best Player in High Competition in 2014, part of the USA Football and Flag football program. It made me fall in love with the game. I played for the Marsh Creek Eagles. It's a Pop Warner League in Drexelton, Pennsylvania, right outside of Philadelphia. And I loved it. I loved being around my buddies playing ball. I have vast memories of pee-wee football. I remember my first coach, Mike Fagans. I'm still close with him.

"I remember one game I was begging him to let me play defense, when we were up really big. I was begging him so much to play defense that he took my helmet, and he had it under his arm. I was just fancy me trying to get it because he was a big guy."

"That's a lot of love playing," said linebacker Alrick Turner, who played for the Coastal Panthers in Wilmington, North Carolina growing up and now leads as a free football camp in his hometown.

"It was important to play as a kid, learning about the game. I watched a lot of football growing up. Playing it, learning how to play right, helped me out. When I got to middle school and high school where you actually played tackle, I understood it then. I knew the ins and outs of the game. It's important for kids to get the knowledge of the game at a young age."

"Being coached well is so important at a young age. You want to be taught how to tackle well. Being coached right and player safety is huge for young kids."

Rooney himself grew up playing multiple sports, many focused on football at Shadelford Academy in Pittsburgh and then at Dartmouth College. He has seen the benefits playing a team sport provides and how it can translate to everyday life.

"I know it sounds cliché, but you always feel football is the ultimate team game, and it truly is," said Rooney. "It's more than just one person on the field. It takes all 22 on your side of the field. It takes everyone working together to execute the play. It takes literally everyone to score a touchdown."

"When you go through the toughest moments of football, the harder you push, the difficult games, that's where you form these deep relationships you have about in the locker room. You really form deep bonds with your coaches and your teammates through the discipline and toughness as well as the fun that the game of football provides. It's really hard to replicate that anywhere."

"I played a lot of sports growing up and football was a unique one with the lessons involved, discipline, discipline, toughness and the competitive fun of the sport is like nothing else."

MIKE TOMLIN

Mike Tomlin was named the NFL's head coach in Pittsburgh's Steeler Valley on January 22, 2007. Listed at the age of 34, Tomlin became only the third head coach hired by the Steelers since 1969.

In his 10 seasons as head coach for the Pittsburgh Steelers, Tomlin has accomplished many things that have never been done at the team's stadium history. A Steelers fanbase for stability at the head coaching position, Tomlin ranks among the league's longest-tenured active head coaches entering the 2025 season.

Tomlin became the youngest head coach in NFL history to both coach in and win a Super Bowl when he led the Steelers to a 27-23 victory over the Arizona Cardinals in Super Bowl XLIII (28 years, 223 days), a record that held for 61 years, followed by Tom Brady in Super Bowl LVI (34 years, 218 days). By winning the Super Bowl in only his second season as a head coach, he also became the third to win a Super Bowl title in Steeler Valley.

During his head coaching tenure in Pittsburgh, Tomlin has led the Steelers to seven AFC North titles, most recently in 2020, and has guided the Steelers to the playoffs 12 times, including two trips to the Super Bowl (XLIII and LVI). Tomlin has won at least five home games in 11 of the first 18 years, including six in 2021. In his 10 seasons, he has never had a losing record.

Tomlin is the only head coach in league history to begin a head coaching tenure with at least 18 consecutive winning seasons. He has won 41 Stealers for a 100% win record in his first 18 seasons as head coach. That is the Pittsburgh Steelers' 600th consecutive win by a head coach in NFL history.

Tomlin has led a total of 82 seasons for the NFL's January Free Agent, including the first playoff win against the Cleveland Browns in the 2004 season. Additionally, Tomlin was honored by Commissioner Roger Goodell to be the NFL's Campbell Award Coach for March 2023.

Tomlin is just the eighth coach in NFL history to win a Super Bowl within the first two seasons as head coach. He is the only head coach in Steeler history to lead the team to two Super Bowls in his first four seasons of the team, including an appearance against the Green Bay Packers in Super Bowl XLV. He is one of only two Steelers head coaches to win three division titles in his first four seasons.

Tomlin has led Pittsburgh to a 200-107-12 record in the regular season, a feat becoming the team's third coach in 2021, the second-best record in the NFL, stringing four seasons behind only Andy Reid and Bill Belichick. His 205-137-12 regular season record is 30th in the best year in football history. Tomlin's 183 regular-season victories are the second-most among active NFL head coaches with 125+ seasons in league history. Tomlin's 183 regular-season win percentage is the 20th-highest in NFL history (minimum 170 games).

Tomlin's 183 regular-season wins put him in the second-most in a coach's first 18 career seasons. The 10th regular season win percentage is the 19th best in a head coach's first 18 seasons.

Tomlin, who took over in NFL history with a regular-season record of 76 games over 150, Bill Belichick, Andy Reid, and Matt Schaub only won his only coaches in NFL history with career records of 70 to more games over 100 wins in the Pro Football Hall of Fame.

Tomlin is one of two active NFL head coaches with over 180 victories and one of four active NFL head coaches to defeat at least 33 current NFL franchises.

2015 victory at Washington is Week 10 of 2024. Tomlin became the sixth head coach in NFL history to reach 188 career wins. He registered 180 wins in 2015 games coached, which was the 10th-most games coached in league history to reach the milestone.

Tomlin led the Steelers to another 10-win season in 2024, the 11th time Pittsburgh has reached double-digit wins during his tenure. The Steelers played seven regular-season games in 2024 playoff teams. Pittsburgh's seven regular-season games played in 2024 playoff teams was tied for the fourth-most in the NFL. The Steelers are victorious vs. opponents that finished 2023 with a winning record over the 10th-most in the NFL.

Tomlin led the Steelers to another 13-win season in 2023, the 10th time Pittsburgh has reached double-digit wins during his tenure. The Steelers played eight regular-season games in 2023 playoff teams, including both Super Bowl and first in the road. Pittsburgh's eight regular-season games played in 2023 playoff teams was tied for the eighth-most in the NFL. Five Steelers in the league that qualified for the playoffs played at least eight games vs. 2023 playoff teams and only Baltimore played more such games and reached the postseason. The Steelers' long-term streaks were vs. 2023 playoff teams tied for the highest in the NFL this season.

Tomlin's young 2022 team received momentum over the course of the season, clinching in Tomlin's 10th season as coach, at 100 in three weeks in Week 9. The Steelers started the season at 2-4 before their Week 9 loss, and won 7-2 the rest of the way. Pittsburgh's offense finished the best third down conversion rate and 10th highest rushing yards in the league from Week 10 through 20 after starting the season behind 24th in both categories. Defensively, Pittsburgh improved from being 20th in opponent sacks per game to the strongest defense in the league over the second half of the season, allowing no 70-yard 27.5 yard per game following their bye week. The Steelers defense also improved in going off the field over the 10th week, allowing the third-fewest third down conversions (38) and long (17) in the season's interceptions (12). The team's 23 interceptions of the season tied for the most in the league.

ART ROONEY

SPORTSMANSHIP AWARD

On January 22, 2015, the NFL introduced the "Art Rooney Award." The award is given annually to the player "who best demonstrates the qualities of on-field sportsmanship, including fair play, respect for the game and opponents, and integrity in competition."

Arthur Joseph Rooney Sr.

"The Chief," 1901-1988

One of the great pioneers of the sports world, Art Rooney Sr. was born on January 27, 1901 in Pittsburgh, Pa., the oldest of nine children. "The Chief," as he was affectionately known, is remembered in the Pittsburgh area as a fair and intelligent man who was one of Pittsburgh's greatest people.

Rooney grew up in Old Allegheny, now known as Pittsburgh's North Side, and lived on the North Side in what is now, just a short distance from where the Steelers Stadium stood.

An international all-around athlete, he held an Olympic medal in weightlifting and was a member of the U.S. Olympic Boxing Team in 1928, although he did not participate in the Olympic Games. He also played in several league football and even pro football. He founded the Pittsburgh Steelers on July 8, 1933, after having owned and coached semi-professional football clubs.

"The Chief" was inducted into the Pro Football Hall of Fame in 1982 for his contributions to the growth of the NFL and the Steelers. His decision to pro football was crucial to the NFL during the 1930s years.

He also contributed to the transformation of the Steelers as the team won its first four Super Bowl Championships in six years, after the first championship, Super Bowl IX, the team gathered around and presented "The Chief" with the game ball.

Rookie Community Week

Steelers rookies participated in the team's annual Rookie Community Week, visiting the Mel Blount Youth Home, Urban Impact, and the Best of the Best Foundation.

To kick-off Community Week, the 2005 Steelers rookie class visited the Best of the Best Foundation. They toured the facility and participated in an egg drop competition with youth in the foundation's summer program. The rookies had the opportunity to connect with the kids and inspire them through teamwork and creativity in friendly competition.

The following day, the rookie class teamed up with Urban Impact for a Youth Football Clinic, where they led drills and interactive games. The players created a positive environment and emphasized the importance of staying active and being a positive influence in both their homes and communities.

To close out the week, the rookies visited the Mel Blount Youth Home, where they participated in football drills and conversations to inspire local youth. The visit gave the players an opportunity to make a lasting impact within the community and further connect with Pittsburgh-based organizations.

Players Youth Football Camps

During the offseason, Steelers players look apart hosting youth football camps in the Pittsburgh community and their hometowns. Players like Cam Heyward, Derrick Blount, and Derrick Harrison hosted camps, to spend time teaching different skills, ruling the rules, and playing young athletes. The camps provided an opportunity for the players to give back and continue building relationships with the next generation.

Training Camp

The Steelers officially kicked off Training Camp at Saint Vincent College, marking the start of their preseason, where they hosted several community groups. Several organizations including the Clairton Youth Development Home, Boys & Girls Club, and Urban Impact, were invited to attend practice, meet players, and get a behind-the-scenes look at camp. Players took time after practice to greet the kids, sign autographs and take photos, creating a memorable experience for the guests.

The Pittsburgh Steelers Hall of Honor, established with its inaugural class of 27 members in 2017, is comprised of former players, coaches and front office personnel who were integral in creating and sustaining the franchise's success dating back to when the team was founded in 1933.

Each Hall of Honor inductee received a replica of the solid steel football that was given to Steelers founder Art Rooney Sr. by the United States Steel Corporation and United Steel Workers in 1992 to commemorate the team's 50th season. The footballs are on display in the Steelers Hall of Honor Museum located in Acrisure Stadium, which provides opportunities for fans to learn more about the franchise, view rare artifacts preserved by the team, and relive the biggest moments and people in Steelers history.

After leaving the Steelers in 1935,

Art Weisman returns to the steel industry through his first career working with steel 22 years and his office as head engineer. While only games were played at Foster Field, Weisman often took his team to other cities as well as New York, London, Pittsburgh, New Orleans and Louisville in the 1930s and 1940s to compete with baseball and college football.

In 1936, Weisman signed a contract with American Steel "Whizzer" White, a $11,000 contract, making White the first "big money" player in the NFL. White led the League in scoring that year with 10 points and in the NFL's most dramatic season. He earned $1,000 as a member of the United States National Guard during training in 1935.

In 1940, Rooney signed the first major contract, now known as the "Big Money" contract. The first major contract in the NFL's history came in 1942 when head coach Bert Bell signed Art Weisman to a $11,000 contract with the understanding of leaving the Steelers for the next year. Weisman joined the United States Army along with many other NFL players as the team went to war with World War II. Rooney signed the Steelers with the Philadelphia Eagles in 1943 (Pittsburgh "Steelers") and with the Chicago Cardinals in 1944.
